Love on a Leash Certified Therapy Dog

I was rescued as an adult. Despite my less than wonderful early years, I'm an amazingly calm, sweet, confident, friendly creature. I love to give out kisses (they're clean). I train my humans quickly to rub my belly and butt. However, beware of my tail which has been known to thump with joy while knocking over stuff, including ice cream and beers.

My dad is Stephen. My roommate is King, another German Shepherd and fellow Palomar Paws therapy dog.

Heroes don't always wear capes.
Sometimes they wear shaggy coats.

Palomar Paws is a volunteer program designed to bring a little TLC into the hospital setting as patients look forward to the four-footed visitors with as much anticipation as the two-footed kinds. Sometimes the tranquility and quiet joy a dog visit brings to a patient is the best prescription.
